

Answers to common questions regarding Forest Closure

It is never an easy implement closure orders that impact locals and visitors alike for their recreation opportunities on lands managed by the Inyo National Forest. For safety reasons due to extreme fire conditions, this regional decision was made to ensure the safety of the public and local communities.

Are Inyo National Forest campgrounds closed?

Yes, all campgrounds on the forest are closed.

Can I dispersed camp?

The forest closure prohibits dispersed camping and closes forest roads.

Can I hike on trails/ climb?

Trails are included under the closure as is climbing.

Can I fish, paddle, or boat on lakes?

Inyo National Forest lakes and streams are closed under the order.

Can I hunt?

Not on Forest Service lands.

What about wilderness trips?

Any wilderness permit that originates on the Inyo has been cancelled through September 17th and we are working with our neighboring parks to inform and reroute hikers. Hikers should not knowingly start or continue a hike into a closed area.

Wilderness Permit refunds: Canceled wilderness permits should receive an automatic refund.

Visitors should call the wilderness permit office if they have questions @ 760-873-2483.

What if I need to retrieve a vehicle? The forest will allow for exceptions for forest entry for people with legitimate needs such as recovering vehicles and work-related matters.

Will the closure get extended? Since the decision to close the Inyo was at a regional level, we can't definitely answer this. We have forwarded this concern to the region so they understand that there are impacts to our visitors, be that hunting tags or flying on for coveted backpacking trips. Lots of plans and investments are impacted.
